“ She was my great grandmother, despite having more great grandkids than most would care to count she managed to remember them all by name and would go out of her way to show her affection and love to you when she saw you. I can remember taking the golfcart to go visit her on numerous occasions when me and my brother would stay at Maw and Paw's, watching wheel of fortune, or days of our lives with her and daisy. She was a light in this world, and though I only knew her for a small portion of her life I know well that the world will be a slightly darker place without her presence.
