But he said to me, "My grace is sufficient for you, for my power is made perfect in weakness." Therefore I will boast all the more gladly about my weakness, so that Christ's power may rest on me...For when I am weak, then I am strong.--2 Corinthians 12:9-10

“ Dean was one of the first friends that I made when we moved to Ashdown. She and I worked at AHS in the office together. She loved her family dearly and was so proud of her children. It was my privilege to have Ginger in my OT class at the high school. Our thoughts and prayers are with the family.

“ We knew that the time would come one day that we would start losing those that were so instrumental in making us the people that we had become. I can honestly say that all of the Trammell cousins owe so much to those that came before us. We have had a tough time the last few years as we have had to say goodbye to so many of them, but we should find strength in knowing that they are all in the hands of God. Dean was my dad's little sister, and I can imagine how excited he was when he got to welcome her into the Kingdom of God. I can see his eyes getting really big as he began to take her to all of the places that they had heard about for years from their parents and grandparents. I know that he had great stories to tell his little sister. We hurt so much because they are gone, but we can't forget that they chose the pattern for their lives, not only for them to see the miraculous streets of gold but for all of us also get to share His glory in His kingdom. Dean was such an inspiration to me. She was a real person. So many times our talks led to God. My fondest memories include all of our Trammell vacations at the beach. The highlight was usually eating at Captain Andersons, and oh what a great time that was. Christmas Eve is another special time when we gather together for our unusually fun game of White Elephant which always sparks some enthusiasm within our family. However, my fondest memory of Dean was finding my baby, Olivia, sitting on Dean's kitchen table every night eating a home cooked meal. Olivia didn't get many of those at my house. I would be so embarrassed, and Dean would tell me not to get on to her!!! You let her eat with meshe's not hurting anything. So for several years, Olivia became a permanent fixture at the Davis family table! We are and have been so very fortunate, having such a strong knit family, and I thank Dean for being one of the Rocks of Gibraltar for me. I will miss her more than anything.
