He was loved by all because of his sweet disposition & talents following his Dad, Uncle Ellis. We are sad but comforted in his knowing & serving Christ in Brownstown Church. “ Good Ole morning breakfast that yummy gravy licking off the plate as a kid still rember till this day. Always started the day with such good breakfast. I look back to summers in hay fields. One summer raking hay I turned the tractor around to see a baler tipped on its side as he climed out saying how do you like that let's go to the house. This man has so many talents as building trucks , trailer chicken coops to so much more . He taughted me so many thing things growing up . From wanting to do welding after school I wanted to learn he taughted me and helped build a dog box . We took Ole nothing into something that's the talent such a man could have from a pile of I thought was junk to amazing finished things. You'll never understand a man's junk till he makes finished things from it . He taught me how to build so many different things . I look back to riding along to the farm to check cows with two dogs hanging out the cab . I rember the good Ole times sitting out the garage with two dogs and me and him chatting away. This man was always a person to look up to such a kind hard working talented man . He will always be with our hearts and never forgotten.
