“ Just heard the news wish i could have made it to the services. Galen was one of the hardest working men i ever knew. He worked for my Dad when he was fresh out of high school I can remember as a young kid Galen running sprints on Scaffolding two stories high if you couldn't keep up or out of his way he made sure you didn't slow him down . I was fortunate that once I opened my own framing business Galen was seeking work and came worked for me for a couple years even in his mid 40's he was still running wide open around the job . I'm sure going to miss seeing him around he always had a friendly smile to greet you with and firm handshake to let you know he was still a strong man.

I remember one summer I came to my Dads and of course not going to work was no option for me. Dad and Joe Dykes took a big job in Mineola TX in the evenings after work we all went to the lake and some chicks kept crusin the road where we were parked and all the guys were going nuts trying to get the chicks to stop Galen came up with a brilliant idea he nailed alot of nails into a small piece of plywood and laid it in the road haha the chicks had to stop so they didnt end up with flats! lots of great memories with Galen for sure.

R.I.P. Galen tell Chub hello from us down below I know you have plenty of great company up there
