“ Missing her so much. Her smile, her laughter, her love and above all, her hugs. A year will never pass without me thinking about how much she loved life and how special she made me feel. I miss you Aunt JoAnne.

“ Jo Anne and I had our 9 kids together, raised them to know Jesus in the same church, took tennis lessons together--but, my friends, I promise you--if you have not seen Jo Anne dancing in the middle of the St. Thomas Mardi Gras parade--you ain't seen nothin'. --Jo Anne--you did not tell me you were going when I talked to you last week. See you in the morning by that bright river side. I've always loved you--always will. Your favorite sister in law (surely) Joyce Thompson

“ I have so many memories of Joe Anne, at my parent's in Oregon, at our home years ago in San Ramon, at my wedding to Tom. What I remember the most is the laughter. Laughing over the littlest of things or finding humor in odd situations. I can still hear her voice telling me something, prefaced by a "Honey", and either essentially saying not to worry or to go ahead and do it. Not that I ever really need encouragement to jump in with both feet, but I am taking your words with me, Joe Anne!

Love to all of you,

Holly

“ I love all the crazy stories of her life. I'll never forget the one where she was waiting for Estes to pick her up after work and it was raining. A truck pulled up, slowed down, she got in, straightened her skirt, then looked at the driver and asked, "Did my husband send you to pick me up?" The guy said, "No." She jumped out quicker than she got in! I love the camping trips and the card games. I can't wait to get to Heaven and see her again.

“ In the late 1980's or early 1990's, Joe Anne & I decided we needed to take a trip together, leave husbands and kids at home. Hawaii was our destination and because she was busy working the tax season it was up to me to make all the arrangements. Our plan was to meet at the airport in San Francisco and spend seven days in Maui and Kauai. I was at the gate anxiously waiting for her as everyone else had boarded the plane. The flight attendant asked me to take my seat as they were getting ready to close the doors. I went in, sat down and waited.

Meanwhile, Joe Anne was in her seat, all buckled in and waiting for me to show up. When a flight attendant walked by, Joe Anne mentioned that she was concerned because her sister hadn't arrived and she didn't want me to miss the flight to Hawaii. The flight attendant said, "My dear, this plane isn't going to Hawaii. We're going to Chicago." Joe Anne jumped up and thanks to some helpful people got off the plane before the doors closed!

I will always remember that voice, "Wait for me! Dola Jean where are you?" There she was running through the door (they held the plane for her) with this crazy Hawaiian hat perched on her head, some fake leis around her neck and a smile on her face.

The trip was great. We explored both islands, shopped, laid on the beach, talked and got re-acquainted after all those years. It is a cherished memory.

The first night we walked around then found a restaurant for dinner while we waited to be seated, I went to the bar and ordered two classes of white wine. She asked me, "How did you know how to do that?" I taught her how. But then, that's another story.

“ My dearest friend, no one knew me better and still loved me and was always there for me. She was always my cheerleader and never, ever complained about what she was dealing with. Her husband and family were her life. We will all see her again in her new home and we'll then tell her how precious she was and how much we loved her and how much she contributed to our lives. God bless you, I will miss you greatly!!Love, Katie

“ The most beautiful and loving family and photos. I can only imagine the Woman that raised a wonderful family such as I've been blessed to meet. I am touched by your devotion. May the Lord's hands be near you during this time of strife and deep felt tenderness.
