“ Although our lives took different directions, I loved her always. She was a great friend and was family to me. Ive missed the old Kathy for many years. She's now at peace and rest and I believe she is her normal self again. So strong and a little mischevious, lol. God bless you my friend. Love always!

“ I think about you and your little dirt bike. You rode that thing as fast as it would go, back and forth, back and forth then around and around the house you would go. No more pain for you my friend, you can have wind in your face again. I will be glad to see you again one day
