“ When I think about my time with Granny, I didn't know this then but they were some of the richest times of my life. We were taught love and discipline, we were given the best home-cooked meals on earth, and I don't know how many times I went home with purple hands and fingers but it was a bunch. When I remember Granny, the one word that fits her the most for me is strength. I don't ever remember getting a spanking from her, but I will never forget that look she could give, and that worked just fine for me. I can also still remember driving up with Papaw and being impressed by seeing her working in the garden in the heat of the day, regardless of her age. I am so thankful for the time I had with her, and the good qualities that she modeled for me have made a lasting impression on my life. She will be missed, but thankfully we'll all see her again soon.

One last thing, SHERRY DON'T CALL ME BOOGER!! ;-)
