“ She may not have been an actual relative of mine, but she was my Mimi. I spent almost as much time at her house and in her pool as I did with my actual grandparents. She was the most fun Mimi a girl could have. I will never forget the times I spent with her dancing to The Beach Boys and feeding Baby leftovers from breakfast. You will never be forgotten, Mimi. You were loved deeply. Uncle Ronald, you are in my prayers. We love you!

“Mildred Cowling was a loyal, kind, compassionate woman that will be deeply missed. She had no fear of speaking up for those she loved. She loved her family beyond measure and showed the world the true definition of what being a family means. It means/meant for her never leaving or giving up on those you consider family. No matter how challenging, no matter distance or time, no matter difficulty; family does not quit on one another. She even showed that family is not necessarily blood relatives as she loved my daughter as one of her own grandchildren. To my child she is known as Me-Me and always will be. What wonderful lessons she taught this child and what joy and laughter she brought. Thank you Mildred (and Uncle Ronald) for teaching Leslie about life, love, and family. Mildred loved her church family and was willing to speak up/out to keep that church focused on God And God’s Word. She was committed to seeing the leader of that church kept the focus God centered as well. Thank you Mildred and Ronald for helping my dad keep that focus until the bitter end. Thank you for being his friend and supporting him. Darla, Amber, Kaylin: Mildred loved each of you with all she was and all she had. She was proud of each of you and would want you to continue who you are while incorporating who she was in your daily walk. Through each of you she will carry on. She would also want you to be prepared to meet her again in Heaven. I can only imagine the reunion she is preparing for all of us now. In fact, I can imagine the welcome reception she had on Christmas Day! May we all remember the lessons she taught in how she loved and lived. May we all recall the laughs she gave and the cherished memories she made with each of us as time moves forward. May we all be bold enough to live life on our terms & stand up for those that are sometimes cast aside even if it offends the majority. May we love God as unashamedly as she did. And may we pray daily that every member of our family have their enteral salvation secured so that in the end we will dwell in the House of our Heavenly Father forever and ever.

Ronald I am so deeply sorry for your loss. Thank you for loving my parents, my daughter, and me as you have. May God continue to bless and keep you!
